

To Whom it may Concern

Competition is the lifeblood of free enterprise. Please do not enter artificial barriers to those who are innovating better ways of doing things that we all value. Restraint of freedom to innovate will doom our economy to the fate of Russia and all other failed planned systems.